Monthly walking tours of the Denver Union Station redevelopment project will be offered this summer starting June 17.

The one-hour tours are sponsored by the Denver Union Station Project Authority, the Regional Transportation District and the Union Station Neighborhood Co.

Tours will be offered at 4:30 p.m. on June 17, July 15, Aug. 18 and Sept. 16 -- all on the third Thursday of the month.

"The walking tour will include information on the storied history of Union Station from the late 1800s to the present day," the tour sponsors said in a statement Tuesday. "You will learn about the early station buildings and famous travelers who visited Denver by train, hear about the new Union Station neighborhood and its transformation of downtown, get an update on the expansion of RTD's transit services coming to the area and witness construction of the largest transportation redevelopment project in North America first hand."

Participation is limited to 25 people per tour, and reservations are needed; call 303-592-5462.

Free tours of Union Station offered.
