

DUS News Digest

December 21, 2012 to December 27, 2012

Holiday lights at Union Station will go off for building project Page 2
December 26, 2012 The Denver Post

Holiday lights at Union Station will go off for building project

Page 2

December 26, 2012

The Denver Post

A major renovation of Historic Denver Union Station means holiday lights will be off today.

The renovation projection is moving along quickly, according to a news release.

The lights go off today so that work can proceed safely, authorities announced.

For more information about the Denver Union Station building project, go to www.denverunionstation.org.