

The redevelopment of Denver Union Station is made possible by a unique partnership among four entities: the Regional Transportation District (RTD), the City and County of Denver (CCD), the Colorado Department of Transportation (CDOT) and the Denver Regional Council of Governments (DRCOG).

After RTD purchased Denver Union Station in 2001 with assistance from the Partner Agencies, an Executive Oversight Committee (EOC) was formed through an intergovernmental agreement and the Master Plan process was initiated.

Find out more about the Partner Agencies here:

Regional Transportation District

City and County of Denver

Colorado Department of Transportation

Denver Regional Council of Governments